NORTHWOOD TECHNICAL COLLEGE HEALTH INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY STUDENT POLICIES

FAILURE/REPEAT COURSE POLICY

Health Information Technology students may repeat a program curriculum course only once. In addition, students enrolled in the HIT program may repeat only three courses in their program during their progress toward graduation.

If a student has experienced a failure in an HIT curriculum course, and plans to take the course again, they must pass the course during the second attempt. If a student fails the same course a second time, they will be dismissed from the HIT program.

If a student fails four or more different HIT program curriculum courses, that student will be dismissed from the HIT program.

Examples:

The following is for a student who has not previously failed any program curriculum courses.
