

NORTHWOOD TECHNICAL COLLEGE
HEALTH INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY
STUDENT POLICIES

FAILING GRADES

Any of the following may result in or contribute to a failing grade in an HIT program course:

1. Failure to attain at least a grade of "C" in the course
2. Failure to meet professional practice experience expectations/policies
3. Dismissal from a professional practice experience site
4. Failure to complete all course requirements
5. Academic dishonesty
6. Failing to submit assignments
7. Consistently submitting assignments after the due date

HIT students are required to obtain a grade of "C" or better in all HIT program courses, including science, general studies, and elective courses required. All required coursework from each semester, including semester-required science and general studies courses, must be successfully completed (grade of "C" or higher) before the student may take coursework from subsequent semesters.